‘Corky Davis and Cowboy Swing’ to raise money for BPD K-9 Fund

The Bartlesville Police Department, in conjunction with Susan Dick Financial, will present Corky Davis and Cowboy Swing at the Bartlesville Community Center on Aug. 18 to help raise money for the police department’s K-9 program.

The event will be held WHERE, ADDRESS. Doors will open at 6 p.m. and the show starts at 7 p.m. Tickets can be obtained at the Bartlesville Community Center. Tickets for adults, which includes admission for one child, are $15. Additional children are $10 each.

All proceeds from the show will benefit the Bartlesville Police Department K-9 Fund. The BPD K-9 Team is currently raising funds to purchase two new dogs and the equipment to properly set up new patrol vehicles for the K-9 Officers.

Western Swing is a part of contemporary Jazz that was developed and performed in the ’30s and ’40s by Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys. It’s been called “musicians music” because it’s interesting and fun music to play.

Corky David and Cowboy Swing is an eight-piece group that performs both Western and Eastern Swing, with a little bit of country thrown in for good balance. Most recently, the group appeared in shows at Siloam Springs, Ark, OK Mozart in Bartlesville and the Legendary Cains Ballroom in Tulsa. Band members are Corky Davis, John Wehmeyer, Don Grims, Charlie Miller, Jerry Lemen, Rene Hurt, Harry Lawson and David Jenkins.

“The comedy and good-natured fun of this group will leave you with a few good memories and a few laughs to brighten your evening,” said WHO. “Please join us for a fun evening of entertainment and tasty desserts that will benefit the Bartlesville Police Department K-9 Fund!”
